

Precision Science®

Packaging

Precision Science understands that packaging is a vital element in providing superior custom manufacturing and that presentation is critical in delivering your end product.

Our process envelops all areas of packaging: design, containment, protection, and communication.

We have developed extensive packaging capabilities to meet the needs of the animal health industry.

- ① Packaging is a vital element in providing superior custom manufacturing.
- ② Presentation is critical in delivering the end product.
- ③ We have a broad selection of packaging solutions ranging from individual packets, to 1 lb containers and up to 75 lb boxes.
- ④ We also have super sac packaging available for bulk orders.

